Eligibility Criteria

The purpose of the Texas Newspaper Hall of Fame is to honor those who:

- Have made an outstanding contribution to Texas newspaper journalism or, through Texas journalism, to newspaper journalism generally, or
- Have made an extraordinary contribution to their communities, regions, the state of Texas or the nation through newspaper journalism, or
- Have advanced the legacy of a free and responsible press, and
- Have inspired others to improve the quality of the profession of journalism.

Honorees must be natives of the state of Texas or have established a significant portion of their professional reputations in Texas. They must have shown exemplary contributions to the newspaper industry during a period of at least 20 years prior to being nominated and may be living, retired or deceased. Nominees may come from any facet of the newspaper business, including editorial, photojournalism, advertising, business, production, circulation, management or any combination of backgrounds.

Attach documents supporting consideration of your nominee, i.e., professional background, employment record, career highlights, civic activities, awards and honors, and statement of why nominee should be recognized by the Texas Newspaper Foundation Hall of Fame.
