

An illustration of an oil pumpjack, also known as a nodding donkey, is positioned on the left side of the advertisement. It is rendered in a light gray, semi-transparent style against a dark background. The pumpjack consists of a tall, lattice-structured tower (the derrick) and a long, horizontal arm (the walking beam) that pivots on a central point. At the end of the walking beam is a curved, bowl-shaped part called the horsehead, which is connected to a vertical rod that would go down into a well.
